Fig. S2. Sensitivity tests on the threshold for classifying urban and rural areas. The sensitivity was defined as the relative changes in per-capita CO_2 emission in rural and urban areas when the classification threshold (population density) was multiplied by a factor (F) varied from 0.8 to 1.2 at a 0.1 interval for each country.